Dear colleagues,

We invite Balkan Romanists, as well as other friends of the Association of Roman law and Roman legal tradition „Societas pro Iure Romano“, to participate and contribute to the scientific debate on FEMINAE - a universal theme that has both Roman dimensions and many modern projections.

We will be honoured if you accept the invitation and confirm your participation in the conference that will be held on October 5-7, 2023 in the island of Cres in Croatia.

We also send the official email address of the conference: ius.romanum2023@pravri.uniri.hr
At your disposal is Assist. Prof. Ines Matić Matešković, Ph.D. from the University of Rijeka, Faculty of Law, who will answer your questions and register all the letters you send to the e-mail address mentioned above.

Thank you to everyone who already sent in their registration forms by the agreed deadline.

Please see the attached list of registration forms received. If any of you have submitted the form but are not listed, please resend it to us. We apologize for such a technical glitch that is not our fault.

We would kindly ask those of you who have not yet made your requests in the registration form for objective reasons to do so by the 20 May 2023 at the latest by sending a reservation to the address of Hotel Kimen: hotelkimen@hotelkimen.com, making a copy of the letter on the conference address as well, to avoid mismatches. We kindly ask you that the letter to the hotel has explicitly written "About the SIR conference October 5-7, 2023."

Due to many inquiries and with a view to organizing your participation, we are sending you information in attached file about travel options (by plane, destinations, possible connections by bus, train, link to the Rijeka, Cres ferry, etc.) We hope that this information is useful to organize your travel and administrative and financial relations with your university.

We would like to remind you that the deadline for abstracts not submitted in the registration form is 30 June 2023. After this deadline, new abstracts cannot be included as the booklet will be sent to print.

The conference registration fee is 70 EUR for participants and 50 EUR for accompanying persons, and payment will be made upon participant registration upon arrival on Cres.

All information about the conference will be posted on the website IUS ROMANUM at <http://iusromanum.info/en/2023/04/05/feminae-s-i-r-international-conference/>

We are waiting for you on the island of Cres!
